

Technical Outlook: Nifty

The Benchmark Index is trading in a very narrow range for the last couple of weeks and has formed a pennant-like formation in the daily chart. As it can be observed on the daily chart that since 18th June index has formed higher low formation and a horizontal trend line resistance around 15900 zones. Whenever the index approaches near its lifetime high levels one can witness a selling on the intraday charts.

Nifty50 on the 7th July opened with a flat to negative bias and tested its 21 DEMA on the intraday chart from where prices witnessed a positive spurt and closed above 15850 levels.

Momentum oscillator RSI (14) has formed a rounding formation on the daily chart near 60 levels with a bullish crossover which indicates an oscillator has formed a bullish formation.

Looking at the current chart set up we are expecting a bullish breakout in the Benchmark Index in the coming trading sessions. Near-term support for the index is placed near 15650 levels and once the previous high of 15915 is sustainably breached, it could rise towards the 16000 mark and even higher.
